The episode, scheduled to air in mid-November, concentrated on women who participate in high adventure activities. Michelle Cove discussed her regular shark dives at the resort and commented on video footage aired during the program.

"I enjoyed talking about something that I love and that comes so naturally to me -- shark diving," she said at the conclusion of the taping.

Dive South Ocean is an active member of the Diving Equipment and Marketing Association (DEMA) and a PADI 5-Star Instructor Development Center. For more information about the operation and its offerings, call 800 879-9832.
